Why Work With an SRES?

REALTORS® with the Seniors Real Estate Specialist® (SRES®) designation have completed specialized training to support the unique needs of older adults in today's real estate market.

Whether you are retiring, downsizing, moving to an active adult community, or finding an accessible home to age in place, an SRES® will guide you through every step of the process with care and expertise.

We provide compassionate, personalized service to help you find a home that aligns with your lifestyle preferences, healthcare needs, and financial goals at this stage of life.

Working with an SRES® means peace of mind—your real estate professional is committed to helping you and your family navigate your next transition with integrity and respect.
